Ford To Stop Leaks

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seeking to halt leaks of government secrets, President Ford has ordered federal workers and government contractors with access to classified material to sign an agreement barring unauthorized disclosures. Ford took the action Wednesday under executive orders and also asked Congress to legislate maximum penalties of a $5,000 fine and five years' imprisonment for government personnel revealing intelligence secrets or methods.

Appealing for action "with all possible speed," he said in a special message "it is essential ... that the irresponsible and dangerous exposure of our nation's intelligence secrets be stopped."

Neither the executive action nor the proposed bill would apply to members of Congress or their staffs, who may leak secrets to reporters who publish the information.

Congressional leaders supported Ford's call to punish leakers but agreed his executive action or proposed legislation could not affect Capitol Hill.

"I do not believe under the Constitution that a member of Congress can be restrained from saying what he wants to say," said Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee after a meeting with the new intelligence director, George Bush.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., said only congressional ethics rules on secrecy—not criminal laws—can restrain members from making statements harmful to the national security.

Ford said in his news conference Tuesday that Congress "will have to clean its own house."

In Parker

Councilman Resigns

City Councilman Dick Lantrip of Parker resigned his office Wednesday to run for the mayor's position, it was revealed yesterday afternoon by Parker City Secretary Betty McMenamy.

Harold Scott currently is mayor of Parker; however, he has not yet filed for reelection in the upcoming city race, which is scheduled for Saturday, April 3.

Attorney General Edward Levi told a news briefing on the proposed rules that reporters were exempt if they published classified material.

According to Ms. McMenamy, in addition to the mayor's seat, council positions held by Leonard Stanislav and Charles Earhart also are up for grabs this year, but neither have filed for re-election.

Lantrip's council seat, which has a year left on the current term, also will be opened up, by virtue of his resignation.

Outside of Lantrip, the Area rescue workers had to work several hours in order to free the bodies from the twisted wreckage. Both were pronounced dead at the scene by a justice of the peace.

The 52-year-old Anderson was an engineer with Texas Power & Light Co. in Dallas, was a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Texas Society of Professional Engineers. He was a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by a son, Stanley Clayton Anderson of Dallas; one brother, William A. Anderson of Florida, and two sisters, Mrs. Edna Fraki of Austin and Miss Elizabeth Anderson of Abilene.

The 47-year-old Mrs. June Rose Anderson was a member of the Texas State Teachers Assn., the Stratford Club and the New Horizons Club. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. R.A. Gammon of Denton.

Rev. Philip Walter and Rev. William Morgan will conduct the services and burial will be in the IOOF Cemetery in Denton. Jack Schmitz & Son Funeral Home in Denton is handling the arrangements.

Rites Set for Crash Victims

Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Lucian T. Anderson of Plano, who were killed in a car-train crash Tuesday, will be conducted at 11 a.m. Friday in the First United Methodist Church in Denton.

The couple, who resided at 3308 Canterbury in Plano, died when the car in which they were riding was struck broadside by a freight train, about four miles east of Waco on FM 1860.

The crash occurred late Tuesday afternoon, and according to the train's engineer, the couple apparently did not hear the train's warning sounds.

only Monday," said Charles Edwards of Dallas, an independent actuary hired as a board consultant.

Rates for homeowners, fire and extended coverage insurance increased 7.9 to 11 per cent Monday.

In recommending a higher rate than the industry request, the experts said the difference involved "trend factors" used to predict losses.

Texas Insurance Advisory

Association attorney Sam Winters also said companies believed the board's two-year experience period used to determine rates last year was too short. He said a three-year period would avoid major rate fluctuations resulting from inflation or losses in a particular year.

He said the rates put into effect Monday were based on 1974 loss statistics and did not reflect companies' experience during 1975.

The overall 5.4 per cent staff recommended increase included a 5.2 per cent raise on premiums for fire insurance on dwellings, but a decrease of 3.4 per cent on other types of fire insurance.

On the most popular homeowners insurance policies the staff recommended an average increase of 6.7 per cent statewide. The overall figure included a 7.7 per cent increase for seacoast homeowners, a 6.3 per cent increase in central Texas and a 5.7 per cent increase in the north-northwest region.

The average recommended increase for extended coverage was 8.5 per cent statewide, but ranged from 4 per cent to 25.7 per cent for different structures in different areas.

Push Begins For Connally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A write-in campaign on behalf of Republican John Connally on the Democratic ballots was launched today in the New Hampshire presidential primary.

Connally, meanwhile, sparked new controversy about his intentions by sending invitations to all 50 GOP state chairmen to meet at his Texas ranch March 10 — the day after the Florida primary. The stated purpose is to discuss the Congressional races.

However, State Republican Chairman Ray Hutchison said Wednesday that he—and not Connally—called the meeting.

The write-in campaign is being mounted by Richard A. Viguerie, a conservative.

Melcer Seeks School Board

Richard (Rick) Melcer, a Plano businessman, has filed for Place 6 on the Plano Independent School District Board of Trustees.

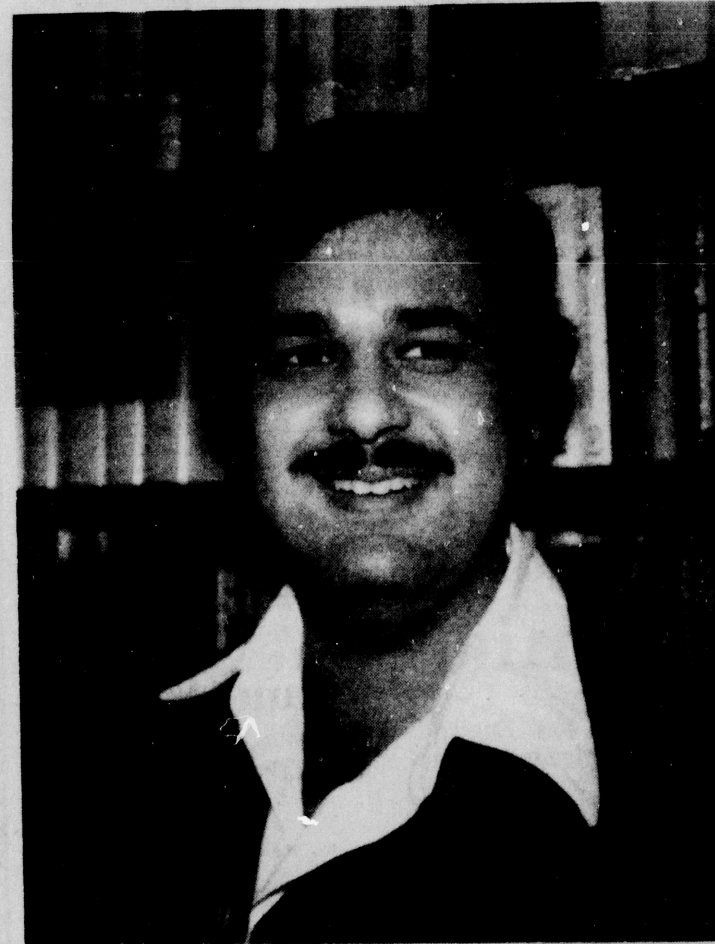

A resident of Plano for the past two-and-one-half years, Melcer is a native of Dallas and was graduated from Hillcrest High School. He received his Bachelor of Business Administration degree in accounting from Texas A&M University, and was simultaneously awarded a commission in the U.S. Army Transportation Corps. His military service included a tour in Vietnam.

Melcer is currently active in the Plano Chamber of Commerce and has served as a state officer in an international civic organization.

The father of two Plano school children, Melcer indicated that his purpose in seeking the office is "to take part in maintaining the high level of quality education that we are now experiencing in our schools."

The candidate's wife, Sheila, is also a native Texas, and is an active participant in the family business, as well as being an officer of the P.T.O. at Davis Elementary School.

Activity Slackens For PD

Criminal activity slowed down Tuesday, according to a police department source.

Only two burglaries were reported, at a residence and at United Auto Brokers located at the intersection of 14th St. and Avenue K. A small portable television was taken from the business while tools were taken from the home.

A bicycle theft and the theft of mail were also reported. In other action, police answered 44 calls for assistance, took a report of criminal mischief and investigated two accidents.

A 1975 Ford driven by Jeffery Lynn Biggerstaff of Dallas was heavily damaged in a collision with a 1972 Peterbilt tractor driven by Don Ross Minks of Dallas at 9:15 a.m. on US 75 about one quarter mile north of FM 544.

A 1973 Ford driven by Diane Elaine Holley of 403 Gladewood and a 1974 Ford driven by David Kenneth Grace of 2421 Brennan were in collision at noon on Custer Rd. about 200 feet north of FM 544.

Grading Change Won't Mean Much

BY NELDA WHITEHEAD

A new meat-grading system is scheduled to be put into effect by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture on Monday, Feb. 23, but according to a Daily Star-Courier survey of local meat merchandisers, the change probably won't even be noticed by Plano shoppers.

After prolonged court battles with consumer groups and various livestock associations, the USDA is going ahead with changes in its nationwide meat grading standards, and as it reads under the new regulations, some beef now graded as "choice" will be upgraded to "prime" and some beef now graded as "good" will be upgraded to "choice."

How it will affect Plano consumers is still undetermined, according to local beef distributors. However, the general consensus of most is that housewives will feel no effect at all.

According to Eddie Carter, store manager at Tom Thumb, there will be no changes either in grade or cost at the Tom Thumb stores as far as he can tell.

"We buy our beef from a supplier in Abilene and since we own the company we see no change," he stated.

R.C. Newman, local district supervisor for Safeway, said the upgrading from choice to prime will have little effect on Safeway sales since the store has never sold prime, except in special orders.

He said that although the meat is already graded by USDA before it arrives at the Safeway warehouse, there are USDA inspectors on Safeway's payroll—who work for the government, but are paid by Safeway—who also inspect and direct grading.

According to the Safeway Dallas office, choice meat is available in three grades—top, middle and low. He said it is possible that the USDA may move the middle grade to top choice, but he sees little change in buying habits and no price increases at this time.

"Most consumers buy in the middle range, and this division simply gives them a wider choice. However, it is the housewife who will control the favored grades," he said.

According to Safeway officials, their meat prices and meat grades will be based on practically the same pattern as before.

At Buddies' supermarket, the manager stated that she has not received any information concerning any changes.

"Our meat comes from a company-owned plant where it is graded before it reaches us. However, it comes to us in bulk form, and when it is cut here, it is tagged by our butcher who will, of course, tag it with the pre-designated grade," she said.

A Ye Ole Butcher Shop spokesman said that his beef comes to him in sections that have already been graded. He said that when he cuts it into counter selections, he adds labels that coincide with those that came with the section.

A new grade, called budget or thrifty—is urged by consumer groups so that the purchaser could better identify leaner, more nutritious, less costly beef, and it is suggested that this grade would be made up of the top third of good and the bottom third of choice.

Safeway officials stated they had always preferred leaner cuts, since prime beef is generally too fatty with its marbling content. The marbling increases with the amount of grain an animal is fed and is sometimes considered desirable because it makes meat juicier and more tender.

USDA feels that with grade changes, a slight change in marbling requirements should cut the costs of producing choice and prime beef.

Kroger manager Dwayne Jenkins, said that his meat also reaches the store in quarters and is already graded. He said that it is possible that some choice meat may be graded to prime, but that at the present time the local store does not handle prime.

The Consumer Federation of America, plus representatives of labor and cattle feeders, have taken the issue to the courts and have filed a request that the Supreme Court hear the case. Rep. Peter Peyser, Republican from New York, has also introduced a bill to prevent USDA from making any changes in beef grade designations allowing for upgrading, and to spur new and more descriptive grades. He reports he is prepared to resubmit his bill this session.

In the meantime, there seems to be no immediate change for beef consumers in Plano—or a very slight change, if any—so apparently housewives will just have to take a wait-and-see attitude.

Saw Teams Sought

Have you always wanted to know what it was like to be part of a two-man team on one of those old-fashioned cross-cut saws? To work in unison with your partner as the saw bites through layer after layer of wood layed down year after year by a once-mighty forest giant? Or perhaps you've had the experience (after all, the chain saw is a relatively recent innovation) and would like to relive it as you lend that experience to an interesting Bicentennial project.

In either case, the Heard Museum can use your help Saturday, Feb. 21, as work proceeds on a project that literally had its roots in the years even before the American Revolution. Volunteers are being asked to help with the cutting of a section from the trunk of a giant bur oak tree which had been growing on the Heard Wildlife Sanctuary until it was felled by natural causes about three years ago.

The tree was 14 feet, 10 inches in circumference when standing and is thought by museum director Dr. Harold Laughlin to be around 300 years old.

"If that estimate is anywhere near correct," said Laughlin, "we should be able to take a section out of that trunk, polish one surface so that we can count the growth rings, and count back until we find the ring which represents the year 1776."

"An exhibit will then be prepared from the tree section, with markers placed at not only 1776 but at other selected historic dates, particularly those having significance in the history of conservation or the environment," he added.

Laughlin explained that cutting of the back side of the slab will be done in the modern manner with a large chain saw.

"One reason for using the hand saw on the other cut is so that the surface will be smoother and easier to polish. But we also thought it would be fun to re-enact the old timbering methods in working on this historic project," he said.

Weather permitting, the sawing will take place Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. Anyone interested is asked to call the museum, 1-542-5012, for details.

New tweed coat with a twist

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I have a beautiful wool tweed coat, with a heavy lining of deep acrylic pile. The problem is I can only walk fifty steps or so when any dress I have on twists, turns and creeps up to my hips, and then twists around me. I am really afraid to wear the coat because of this since I cannot control it. What should I do? — MARIE.

DEAR MARIE — I would take the coat right back to the store where it was bought, tell them the problem and ask for a solution or a credit. They have surely heard from others who bought the same type coat. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Recently an elderly lady died during our church service, and she had no identification in her purse — just her car keys. The ushers waited until all the cars went out of the parking lot to see if her keys fit any remaining car. They did, so her identity was established through her car. For years I have pasted a name and address label inside each of my purses since I do not always carry a wallet with my address. Now, more than ever, I think this is a good idea for us all to follow.

Also I sew two partially worn washcloths together and use them for dishwashing or floor rags and find them wonderfully useful. They save me money, too. — MRS. J.H.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with people who take any and all complaints about a store to the checkout clerk. Many of these people are hateful, use abusive language and the checkers, who have no control over store policy or prices, get blamed for it all. Most store employees try their best to serve you well but often, especially during holidays, it gets very hectic for them. So, please, be patient and take all complaints to the manager or write to the company's head office. (Polly's note — This letter sounds so heartfelt that it must be from a store checker.)

Also, a word to the wise. Always sign your credit cards. When an unsigned one is lost or stolen, the finder can sign it in his or her own handwriting. When the signature on the card and on a sales slip match, the clerk often asks for no other identification, and a computer cannot tell the difference. If it could, half the charge slips we sign in a hurry would be rejected. A signed card is at least more difficult for someone else to use. — SHARON C.

DEAR POLLY — Gladys whose Pet Peeve was that she could no longer buy a girdle with a side zipper, might like to know that they are available through some of the mail order catalogs at a reasonable price. — CHELSEA.

DEAR READERS — Many ladies wrote naming three of the best known mail order houses that still carry these girdles. — POLLY.

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea, Pet Peeve, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of this newspaper.

Aside from surfing, swimming, shell hunting, fishing, girl (boy) watching, hiking, sunbathing, bird watching, camping, water-skiing, picnicking, nature studying, four-wheeling or building sand castles, there isn't much to do at Padre Island National Seashore.

Padre Island is a skinny (113 miles long, no more than three miles wide) barrier island. It stretches along the Gulf Coast of Texas from near Corpus Christi to near Brownsville on the Rio Grande.

There is development at each end of the island but an 80.5 mile stretch in the center, the national seashore, is undeveloped. It is separated from the mainland by Laguna Madre, a shallow body of water with a maximum width of 10 miles.

To get to the seashore from Corpus Christi, take South Padre Island Drive (State Road 358) east to Park Road 22 and follow the signs. Park Road 22 crosses the John F. Kennedy Causeway and runs south into the park. From Port Aransas take Park Road 53 south to Park Road 22 and turn left.

There's a ranger station four miles after you enter the seashore. You may want to stop for information on the summer interpretive programs offered in the park, or purchase field guides and geological maps for use during your stay.

Another mile down the road and you are at Malaquite Beach and ready to engage in some of those activities mentioned earlier.

The Malaquite Beach development has a concession with a gift shop, snack bar, a free bathhouse and beach equipment rental facilities. During the summer lifeguards are on duty from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. And from Malaquite you can walk north along a four-mile stretch of beach that is open only for pedestrian traffic and bicycles.

That's for short hikers. Durable hikers have 65 miles of sand in front of them because just south of Malaquite the road ends on the beach. You can also drive south on the sand those 65 miles to the Mansfield Channel, but unless you have a four-wheel drive vehicle you will only be able to traverse the first five miles.

The first five miles, except during rare periods of extremely high tides, can be safely negotiated by any vehicle, including those pulling trailers. Four wheel drive vehicles can usually be rented in Corpus Christi.

But before we head out into the sand, let's take a little closer look at Malaquite Beach, where the girls (and boys) are.

Last year nearly a million people visited the seashore. During spring and early summer holidays, such as Easter and Memorial Day, the beach is packed and people-watchers can have a field day. Bring shades or binoculars for both close by and far out people-watching.

If you plan to be more a participant in the seashore frolics than a watcher, you'll be happy to know that the water temperature in the gulf exceeds 85 degrees in summer and rarely drops below 60 in winter. And the gradual slope of the beach makes supervised swimming safe and enjoyable.

Suntan lotion and a big, floppy hat are the best defenses against overexposure, a threat because the light-colored sands magnify the intensity of the sun's rays. And the biggest menace is not the Great White Shark but the beautiful, blue, balloon-like Portuguese Man-of-War Jellyfish. Alive or dead, in the water or on the beach, the Man-of-War's tentacles can inflict an extremely painful sting. If you should be stung, see a National Park Service ranger for first aid treatment.

In another column we'll head out along the beach and take a closer look at some of the other lures, including fishing, birdwatching and nature studying.

If you are planning a vacation Right Around Home, write the National Park Service, P.O. Box 728, Room M-7, Santa Fe, N.M., 87501, for a trip planning guide to those parks within an easy drive of your home.

Coach Reggie Davis has coached high school basketball teams at Midway and Plano to a combined seven district titles. His latest came in 13-AAAA Tuesday night as the Plano Wildcats beat Paris 89-57. Does the latest district championship feel any different from the preceding six? "They get better every time," Coach Davis said. (Staff photo by Mike Newman.)

'Cats Claim Loop, Look Ahead

Plano Faces Tyler J. Tyler in Playoffs

Plano nailed the casket lid shut on seven loop opponents in claiming the District 13-AAAA basketball championship Tuesday night.

Plano beat the Paris Wildcats 89-57 and the win provides the Wildcats with their second consecutive loop championship with one game remaining before the state playoffs.

Tyler John Tyler will be the Plano opponent in the bi-district round of the cage playoffs and the Wildcats have begun working toward a goal of winning that game.

"We still have Greenville left to play in district, but that game doesn't mean much to us right now," Coach Davis said. "We really have only one thing on our minds and that is the bi-district game. We will go out and play our best against Greenville, but our preparation is directed at John Tyler."

Greenville Friday

The Wildcats go against Greenville Friday night at the Senior High Activities Building at about 7:45 p.m. A win by Plano would give them a 22-10 record going into the playoffs and give them a 13-1 district record.

It has been a long trail for Plano through district play, beating their opponents an average of 10 points each victory. Plano had to bounce back from a predistrict record of 9-9 and one district loss to string 12 victories together.

The Wildcats lost their first district game to Lewisville 60-59 Jan. 6 and fortunately for Plano, it wasn't an indicator of things to come.

"I feel we were real fortunate that the kids could get it together soon enough to get the job done," Coach Davis said. "There for a while, it looked like we wouldn't make it."

Although Plano improved rapidly through district play, Coach Davis feels the team is beginning to peak overall.

"In our last three games, we haven't improved much," Coach Davis said.

"Two of our players have improved a lot in those games. Allan Pettit and Brian Davis have really come along for us. The others seem to have hit a peak. Pettit and Davis have picked us up the past three games."

"It is good in a way," Coach Davis added. "If Pettit and Davis keep improving and the others pickup some, we'll be in good shape for the bi-district game."

Leading Scorers

Davis and Pettit scored 35 points between them in pacing Plano to their 89-57 win over Paris. Davis hit 19 points from his post position, and Pettit hit 16 points from the wings.

Also scoring big were Kent Gaddis with 17 points, Ray Nelson with 10 points, Norman Hall with nine points, and Tim Thornhill with six points.

Collins Forms Soccer Team

Coach Mike Collins is looking for additional boys, born in either 1960 or 1961, to play on his Plano Soccer Club sponsored team.

Collins is forming a team to participate in the Dallas North Soccer Association. Collins is searching for boys with some soccer experience.

League play will begin March 13 and end May 15. Most games will be on weekends, however, an occasional week night game is scheduled. The team enjoyed success last year in the Dallas North League, winning the Junior Division in the spring and winning their conference in the fall.

Collins has nine boys now and needs more before the filing deadline of this weekend. For more information, or to join the team, contact Collins at 423-1257.

games. Plano was cold starting out, trailing Paris 17-15 after the first quarter. But in the second quarter, Plano blew Paris out by scoring 26 points to take a halftime lead of 41-33. In the third quarter, Plano outscored Paris 22-16 to put the clamp on the game.

For more information about Plano's trip to the playoffs, watch future issues of the Star-Courier.

Plano Wins At 'Gloves'

Three Plano youths participated in Golden Gloves' fights Wednesday night with Robert Scroggins and Mike Russell taking victories, while Teddy Bingham lost a decision.

Mike Russell, the Dallas tournament's defending open division light middleweight, used a slow, methodical attack to defeat James Woods of the West Dallas Boys Club. Russell, 177 lb., used a combination of short upper cuts on the 179 lb. Woods and in the third round, Woods threw in his own towel after taking a beating to the ribcage.

Russell draws a bye in tonight's Gloves' action.

Robert Scroggins won his high school division light welterweight fight over 139 lb. Greg Fletcher of the Turnkey Boxing Club. Scroggins, a 138 lb. fighter, draws a bye tonight in Gloves' action.

Teddy Bingham lost his match on a decision to Chief Wahop of the East Dallas Christian Church team in the high school division light welterweight class. Both fighters weighed in at 135 lb.

All three Plano fighters fought under the banner of the Dallas Police Department. Plano is a member team in the Police Athletic League which the DPD is the representative to the Golden Gloves.

In tonight's fights, Ben Ansley will debut in the open division light middleweight class. Ansley will fight in bout number 55 tonight against Reginald Payne of the Turnkey Club. Ansley weighed in at 154 lb. and Payne holds a one pound advantage at 155.

In fight number 54, Plano's Mike Riley will fight Ken McBay of the East Dallas Christian Church team in the open division light middleweight class. Riley weighed in at 149 lb. and McBay at 154 lb.

In the eighth bout tonight, Plano's Larry Brownlee at 93 lb. will fight Bobby Percifield of the DPD. The fighters are competing for honors in the high school division light flyweight class.

Headlining tonight's card at the Gloves' are the initial fights of Plano's phenomenal welterweight Blaine Trussell and heavyweight Johnny McKenzie.

Trussell fights the 48th bout of the evening against 144 lb. Eddie Coleman of the West Dallas Boy's Club. Trussell, 145 lb., is the defending open division welterweight champ and a tournament favorite.

McKenzie fights the 64th bout at the Gloves' tonight. McKenzie, 187 lb. meets Israel Morales, 220 lb., in the open division heavyweight class. Morales is an unattached fighter.

McKenzie won the Gloves' high school heavyweight crown last year and has switched to the open division this year.

Both McKenzie and Trussell have Olympic tryouts awaiting them following the Golden Gloves Tournament.

The tournament is being held at the Dallas Memorial Auditorium with bouts beginning at 6 p.m. Tickets range in price from $2 to $4.
